wrong-doer. And yet the elder De Lesseps was undoubtedly aware of all the corruption which has resulted so disastrously for France, and his persuasive voice and plausible statement continued, so long as possible, to draw from the poor of the country every available franc. That a large proportion of the squandered capital came from the lower classes is shown by the fact that of the original issue of stock more than eighty thousand people held from one to five shares each. In all that original issue there were but few more than one hundred thousand stockholders, and of these at least sixteen thousand were women. This number increased considerably with successive issues of bonds, and when the crash came there was sudden and heartrending poverty in hundreds of thousands of homes. Every move in the entire same was made with the knowledge and consent of Ferdinand de Lesseps. For a long while he know the Panama Canal was a failure, yet he continued to solicit subscriptions and buoy up popular hopes until the bubble burst. His fall has been great and he will probably die in prison, but that he deserves punishment cannot be doubted for a moment. A life of seeming success has been blasted by dishonesty and a name which might have been bright for centuries is honored no more.

In these enlightened days when every welleducated child knows more than its great grandparents did and when religious beliefs are about as broad as they are long it is somewhat fered to prevent the self-inflicted torture and by force the sun-dance was suppressed. On Sunday last, near Marshall, Ill., Elder J. Just why there should be a tendency toward people. the culogizing of Gov. Hogg of Texas because he has issued a wordy manifesto to the legisla-ture of his state on the burning at the stake of a negro criminal is something many intelligent people fail to understand. Simultaneously with the news of the horrible assault committed by the since-overdone villain was published the announcement that if caught he would be burned alive. Gov. Hogg knew this, just as did every newspaper reader in the land, and for the reiterated threats of the enraged inhabitants of savage Paris. But he did nothing to the governor became suddenly emphatic, commanding the sheriff to do all sorts of then impossible things. Gov. Hogg knew the temper of the gathering mob and yet beyond sending loud-sounding messages to unheeding and bloodthirsty people the governor did nothing. His post-mortem expressions would be ludic-rous were not the honor of Texas and of the lent Brasher?" nation so deeply concerned.

Every American and, unless appearances are very deceptive, quite a large number of Europeans desire to see the world's fair a success from beginning to end. But this success is not possible if the complaints of many manufacturers are well founded. From several important business centers the cry has gone up that Chicago houses have secured possession not only of the choice space but also of more space than they were equitably entitled to. If this be so the country will be deeply disappointed in Chicago and with good reason. The Exposition management was supposed to be above the influence of local projudices and unless it is careless as to reputation it will right some of the errors which are now lying at its door. It is a world's fair and not a Chicago show. Had be been a weak man no one can calculate the damage which might have been done him, but as he was exceptionally strong the only result was unconsciousness and the burning of most of the flesh from his paims. THE STAR has shown that in at least two well-authenticated cases men have been killed by the trolley current something that money-making electricians declared to be im-bossible and it maintains that there is no conpossible and it maintains that there is grave danger to human life in the operation of street railroads by overhead wires even when the curfor the sake of argument, that death from wirecontact would only ensue in rare cases, who is Americans generally seem to have been much surprised over the conviction and sentence of Ferdinand De Lesseps. That his son Charles war guilty of all that was charged against him must have been evident to the most careless newspaper reader and that M. Eiffel, the famous and now infamous engineer, behaved criminally has also been made plain, but no one seemed to imagine for a moment that the arm of the law would reach out for the aged and world-honored builder of the Suez Canal and the promoter of the scandal-breeding interoceanic ditch which has been the ruin of both the innocent and the wrong-doer. And yet the elder De Lesseps was

How would Washingtonians like to have such a system on the business streets of the national capital, and how many Washingtonians are there who want to test practically and painfully their electrical resistance?

Some of the over-excitable individuals who have been engaged recently in discussing the possibilities of an invasion of Canada have stirred up a Canadian lawyer who calls fran tically upon the minister of militia to arm and drill a large volunteer force to be ready for emergencies. Mr. Durand should not permit himself to become unduly excited nor should he, if he loves his fellow-man, demand the preparation of Canadian victims for the sacrifice which would take place should the United States ever proceed to eliminate the boundary line. Such a proceeding is mere than improb able, for unless all the signs fail it is the Cana dians who will first move to become a part of the republic. There will be no bloody strife unless there should develop in her majesty's dominion two or three million such shouters as Mr. Durand, daring the United States to come on. THE STAR has not the honor of personal acquaintance with the minister of militia, but it ventures to suggest that Mr. Durand be supplied with a large two-handed double-edged sword and a permit to "shoot off his mouth" until he is tired.
